Meet the challenge of a new, remote world

Move quickly to remote training

using Tutis Expedited eLearning Service

Tutis can help you move quickly to remote training by converting your existing face-to-face, instructor-led training courses to remote delivery.

This can be done for knowledge-based and, importantly also for practical, trades-based courses. Including either or both of the training and assessment elements.

Provide your existing material to Tutis and we will work with you to quickly move it to remote learning.

We will do this by working with you to create blended courses incorporating some or all of these elements:

- remote webinars,
- elearning knowledge courses,
- knowledge assessments, and
- practical observation-style webinar assessments

We will refine and load the elements into the TUTIS learning management system.

Get started with your most popular courses and have them up and running in a few days or weeks. Convert your less popular courses over time.

In times of change and challenge training is more important than ever.
